Mahone and Foraker are both said to base their presidential aspirations on the results in the coming elections in Ohio and Virginia. Two little boomlets will be laid to rest in November.

No wonder distinguished foreigners desire to visit America. Which of them does not want to see Prof. Sullivan, Corporal Tanner and Mrs. James G. Blaine jr.? Seeing Buffalo Bill has greatly excited the European desire to behold more of the republic.

Lord Tennyson begins his new poem with the untimely assertion: Summer is coming, summer is coming. I know it, I know it. That is undoubtedly true, but winter is coming first and don't you forget to get your overcoat out of pawn Mr. Tennyson.

A republican organ of St. Louis has an article on the "Attitude of Reputable Democrats." It is quite a concession in that quarter to admit that there are any reputable democrats. To read its habitual screeds an unimpaired individual would conclude that the democrats are all rascals or ignoramuses.

The Democratic victory in Montana is extremely gratifying. The effort of the Administration to corrupt the new State has failed. Voters there, no longer deceived by false campaign cries, have marched back into the Democratic ranks in numbers that restore the old-time Democratic territorial preponderance which was lost last November. While the returns from the other States are slow and incomplete, enough is known concerning them to show a decided percentage of Democratic gains.

Sedalia has that modern day farce and burlesque on religion, the Salvation Army. It is an infliction of which Sedalia is sorely tired and would gladly be rid of, but how, is the all absorbing question. As an unmitigated nuisance the army stands at the head and some means ought to be devised to suppress it.—Green Ridge Enterprise.

If Green Ridge never has any worse nuisance than the Salvation Army, the pretty little village may pass for an Arcadia. With the exception of their parades, the army has never given offense and no attempt, outside of a few rowdies, has ever been made to get rid of it.

Justice has at last laid its hands upon the conspirators in the scandalous Flack divorce case in New York. Indictments have been found by the grand jury against Sheriff Flack, his son William, and others connected with it. A patient, careful and impartial grand jury, after a thorough investigation in which all parties were afforded an opportunity to be heard, pronounces their crime "a wicked and criminal conspiracy, carried on and consummated under apparent sanction of law." No time ought to be lost in placing the accused persons on their trial. In this case especially, punishment to be effective as an example should be swift.

The Democrats in all the States stand together in this off year and assert their fidelity to their political faith. The party, being Democratic, believes that all legislation should be for the good of all the people, and it opposes as undemocratic and unjust all taxation intended to lay burdens upon the masses for the benefit of a monopolistic class. It believes in tariff reform as a measure of simple justice and pressing necessity, and year ago it said so with emphasis in its National platform. Having a conscience as well as a conviction the party stands by that declaration of truth in spite of the fears of the timid and the consuls of the corrupt. In New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland Massachusetts, Iowa, in short in every State in which a Democratic Convention has been held this year, the platform has reaffirmed the utterance of the National Convention on this subject. There is no "crawfishing," no cowardice, no turning backward. The party is not "getting together," it is keeping together in defense of principle and of the right of the people as against the pretensions of monopolists.

An eastern publication says it has a plot which was devised by Wilkie Collins, who intended to build a story on it. His death prevented that, and now "an American novelist" has written the story in his stead. As the plot was honestly paid for and there is no dishonest concealment of the fact that the story is by another hand there is no harm in the arrangement. What good there will be in it will depend upon the capacity of the "American novelist" who has written the story. But other practices have become common of late which ought to be frowned down. When a great novelist dies certain publishers bring out works alleged to have been left unpublished by him or to have been written by his spirit after death through a medium's agency. One publishing house is said to have had a lot of "sequels" written to great novels, and it publishes them with title-pages so ingeniously devised as to seem to say, without actually saying, that the sequel is the work of the great novelist himself.

A BUGGY STOLEN. How William Holt's Buggy Disappeared Friday Night.

Ed Harris, a crippled colored man, was arrested last evening on a charge of stealing a buggy from Wm. Holt's residence on Grand avenue Friday night. Holt missed the buggy from his lot yesterday morning and by inquiry learned that a colored man named Green Burk had been seen hauling it away the night before. He did not deny the charge, but claimed that Harris came to him Friday evening and said he had a buggy at Holt's residence and offered to pay him 75 cents to haul it to his house on Missouri avenue. Accordingly, that night, about 9 o'clock he drove to Holt's house, and after taking the buggy out of the lot, he hitched it behind his wagon and hauled it to Harris house, as agreed, and Harris paid him 40 cents and stood him off for the balance. Holt claims that he found where Harris had been trying to sell the buggy. The vehicle could not be found last night. Harris claimed that he never saw it, and Burk maintains that he left it in Harris' possession.

SKINS ON FIRE Agonizing, itching, burning, and bleeding Eczema in its worst stages. A raw sore from head to foot. Hair, scalp, face and body all inflamed. Tried every kind of cure by the Cuticura Remedies for $6. Cured by Cuticura. I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from the top of my head to the soles of my feet. My hair all came out leaving me a complete raw sore. After trying everything I heard of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using the bottles of CUTICURA SOAP, CUTICURA OINTMENT, and CUTICURA CREAM, I find myself cured at the cost of about $6. I would not be without the CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, as I find them useful in many cases, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicine. ISAAC H. GERMAN, Warriston, N. Y.

Burning and Itching I was sick in the fall of 1888 with a burning and itching so bad that in three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum (eczema), and said they had never seen anything like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks' use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases. C. E. OSMER, Tiptonville, Va.

Most Intense Itching I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successfully for my baby, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that he got no sleep at night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and is now a healthy, rosy-cheeked boy. MARY KELLERMAN, Beloit, Kan.

THE ELIXIR OF LIFE.

What a Prominent New York Doctor has to say upon the Subject which is Attracting so much Attention. Do you believe in the Elixir of Life? I asked of a prominent New York physician recently. The doctor thought a moment, carefully, and said: "certainly I do, but not in the way in which Doctors Brown-Sequard or Hammond have been describing it. All that has been said in the press of the lands for the past months proves that something is needed to assist and sustain the vital and often failing forces of life, but Nature never intended the human body for injections and they are always injurious because unnatural." "But it is not often done, Doctor?" "I am sorry to say it is. Morphine injections are far too common and they are the great cause of that fearful living death, known as the opium habit. There is but one way to properly reach or sustain the vitality of life, and that is through the stomach and there is no discovery of a potent remedy, which, if rightly used does this so thoroughly, keeps back disease and prolongs life, as pure whiskey and you, I say pure whiskey, for all else is injurious. The effects of a pure article like Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, are particularly those of an 'elixir of life.' It tones up and strengthens the system, without injurious reaction or without the formation of any habit. It tends to renew life in the aged and restore it to those in middle life. For women especially, who are weak, languid or suffering as most women are, it is almost invaluable. All physicians learn these things from their practice, and cannot but be believers in a true and sensible 'elixir of life' like this pure article of which I have been speaking." The Doctor himself seemed to be a good example of the truths he advanced for his strong frame and alert eye showed him to be in perfect health, and I left him much impressed by the clearness, truth and common-sense of his statements.
